Excerpt from S. 674, the Sensible Advertising and Family Education Act: Hearing Before the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, United States Senate, One Hundred Third Congress, First Session, May 13, 1993 Senate, Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, Washington, DC. The committee met, pursuant to notice, at 10 a.m., in room Sr-253 of the Russell Senate Office Building, Hon. Ernest F.Hollings (chairman of the committee) presiding. Staff members assigned to this hearing: Antoinette Toni D.Bush, senior counsel, and John D.Windhausen, Jr., staff counsel; and Regina M.Keeney, and Mary P.McManus, minority staff counsels. Opening Statement Of Senator Hollings The Chairman. The committee will come to order. The other witnesses, Senator Simon, Congressmen Kennedy and Conyers will be along, but we have got a full hearing here this morning and two rather large panels. We will have to use the clock for timing. The legislation in this particular field, I have put my statement in the record. [The prepared statement of the chairman follows:] Prepared Statement of Senator Hollings I welcome everyone to this mornings Commerce Committee hearing. Today, we will hear testimony on legislation, introduced by my senior colleague, and good friend, Senator Thurmond from the State of South Carolina, that would require health warnings to be included in advertisements of alcoholic beverages. The legislation we are examining today seeks to ensure that the general public, and specifically those who are consumers of alcoholic beverages, are aware of the potential dangers associated with the consumption of alcohol, so as to prevent abuse and health risks. Testimony received at a hearing we held last year on a similar bill indicates that over 22 million Americans are addicted to alcohol, including 4.5 million who are under the legal drinking age. Alcohol-related injuries, deaths, and health problems reportedly cost our Nation approximately $85 billion a year. For many years, I have supported legislation to combat alcohol abuse and alcohol related problems. In the last Congress, I cosponsored legislation introduced by Senator Bryan to encourage States through Federal incentive grants, to enact more stringent drunk driving laws, including mandatory revocation of licenses and jail sentences. The legislation was passed as part of the Federal highway bill. I also was successful in getting passed a bill to require drug and alcohol testing of transportation workers operating airplanes, trains, trucks, buses, and public transit systems. It is inexcusable, in my opinion, to let people fly planes and operate sophisticated rail systems without being assured that they are capable of doing so. In the 100th Congress, I supported legislation introduced by Senator Thurmond to require health warnings to be placed on alcoholic beverage containers.
